L-Arginine and L-Citrulline are two amino acids that may have potential therapeutic uses.* L-Citrulline is a precursor of L-Arginine; it is converted into L-Arginine once inside the body. L-Arginine helps to increase nitric oxide levels in the blood.* Higher nitric oxide levels may help relax and dilate blood vessels, thus increasing blood circulation to various organs, including the heart and skin.* L-Arginine supports cardiovascular health.* It may also help the body rid itself of ammonia, a by-product of exercise.* This clearing may enable the body to recover after a workout.*
